Bombs Rain on Formosa Yanks Block Relief of Aachen

By Associated Press War Editor

Tokyo radio reported 1000 Allied planes today raided Formosa, guarding the China coast, while others carried out the heaviest mass attack ever made on Japan's vital oil center at Balikpapan, Borneo.

Japanese broadcasts told of an eight-hour air battle over Formosa as "some 1000 fighter and bomber planes" swept the length of the island. An imperial communique claimed "approximately 100 enemy planes" were shot down in the first six hours of the massive air battle which began at 7 a. m. (Tokyo time).

FORMOSA—Tokyo Radio today reported 1000 Allied planes raided Formosa (A), probable embarkation point for Jap forces invading Foochow area (arrow) of China. In an earlier raid Allied planes hit the Ryukyu Islands (B).

Record Air Raid Blasts Bologna

ROME, Oct. 12 (AP)—A great force of American heavy bombers delivered one of the most concentrated attacks of the war today on German barracks,兵工廠, stores and dumps in a rough circle around besieged Bologna while Allied ground forces deployed 10 miles from the city.

The force of Flying Fortresses and Liberators was larger than that which hit Cassino below Rome in ruins last spring and was the largest the U. S. 15th Air Force ever dispatched over a single target.

Berlin, Reich Blasted Again

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Three formations of Allied bombers were striking Germany from the west and south today, the enemy announced, after a night in which Berlin was bombed for the 17th time and industrial objectives in the western Reich were attacked.

2—Boston American, Oct. 12

The attack—assuming the reports to be true—presumably came from Vice-Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's powerful carrier force. Tokyo had expressed fear the American carriers were "still lurking" in the area after their smashing surprise raid earlier this week on the Yankyu Islands which link Japan and Formosa.

A carrier smash at Formosa would surpass in daring the raids on the Ryukyus, and would be the closest approach of American forces to their goal on the China coast. Heavily fortified Formosa was the jumping-off place for Japanese planes which bombed the Philippines at the start of the war and probably the embarkation point for the recent invasion of the Foochow area on the near-by central China coast.

Earlier Tokyo reported 100 Liberators, escorted by 30 Lightnings, raided Balikpapan Tuesday. And it would be the first use of fighter escorts in Balikpapan raids. The nearest American air base is at Morotai, 825 miles to the northeast. Tokyo asserted 25 bombers and seven fighters were shot down.

American amphibious forces captured their eleventh island in the month-old invasion of the Palau group, within 600 miles of the Philippines. The newest islet was Baisakern, taken without opposition by 81st division infantrymen.

Hungary Seeks Peace Terms?

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—The London radio said in a broadcast recorded by CBS today its Stockholm correspondent reported "the Hungarians have got in touch with the Allies, asking for an armistice."

"If the results are satisfactory, it's likely a Hungarian delegation will go to Moscow shortly," the Stockholm correspondent was quoted.

Huns' Lament

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, France, Oct. 12 (INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's spokesmen today made public a letter found on a German soldier in France complaining that life on the Western Front was far worse than that in Russia.

Anglo-American air attacks and incessant artillery barrages were given special mention.

The letter said: "Our proud air force regiment has been completely wiped out."

"Conditions on the front are unbearable."

"Officers who have been to Russia say they never went through anything like this. The American and British aerial and artillery bombardments are terrible."

Russian Army Set To Capture Memel

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Russian troops battled within five miles of the Prussian port of Memel today in a siege of growing ferocity after invading what Hitler considers German soil by occupying the town of Pilske inside the Memel metropolitan area, acquired by Germany in the spring of 1939.

In the south, the Moscow radio said, other Russians broke into Dzhirzen, third largest Hungarian city of 122,517 on the Orient railroad 116 miles east of menaced Budapest. The Germans said their tanks had thrown a 20-mile-wide ring around strong Soviet armored forces in this area and had beaten back relief columns moving from Oradea, Romania, and Karcag, Hungary. The Germans acknowledged loss of Cluj, capital of Transylvania.

All along the frontiers of East Prussia, the Germans reported violent battle.

A "concentric attack" was launched against Memel by more than 200 Russian tanks, Berlin said, emphasizing the city was encircled. Of these 98 were reported destroyed, 15 by guns of German warships.

Soviet attacks north of Warsaw

United States.

By JOHN F. CHESTER

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The U. S. First Army closed in on burning Aachen today in an action which the Berlin radio called "the greatest battle ever fought on the western front" while to the north and west there appeared signs of a possible Nazi breakup in Holland.

Cards for AEF 1st-Class Mail

Christmas cards destined for overseas servicemen must be placed in sealed envelopes and mailed at first-class postage rates of three cents each, Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly of Boston said today.

Connelly urged relatives and friends of men in the armed forces to mail Christmas cards within the next two or three weeks to allow time for the greetings to reach distant frontiers.

Army and postal officials estimated the Christmas card mail will exceed the 90 million mark expected to be set for gift parcels.

It was disclosed that a crew of 6000 German demolition experts had blown up more than 10 miles of quays and docks during the last 10 days in Rotterdam, Holland's second city and biggest port. Roads around Rotterdam were clogged with Nazi transport, moving generally south and east.

The Allied landings on the south shore of the Schelde have been reinforced, Gen. Eisenhower's communique said today. It added the bridgehead over the Leopold canal was holding firmly.

On the south bank of the Neder Rhine the Germans suddenly abandoned a stretch between Arnhem and Rotterdam. The American infantry fought into the factory district of Aachen late today while to the north foot troops and armor beat off a day-long German counter-attack supported by 20 to 25 tanks.

The Germans have thrown one of their finest divisions into the battle in a desperate, but so far abortive, attempt to relieve or reinforce the Aachen garrison.

But every counter-thrust has been beaten back under a barrage of heavy artillery.

The corridor in the American arc about the city still is about a mile wide and it is under artillery and small arms fire.

While the German radio admitted American gains around Aachen and mouthed threats of vengeance if "the American hordes should carry out the threat to destroy Aachen, this jewel of culture," AP War Correspondent Don Whitehead gave this detailed account of what was happening to the city, dating his dispatch "outside Aachen":

"Lt. Gen. Hodges' doughboys attacked this morning while heavy artillery pounded the besieged Germans and dive bombers screamed out of the heavens to blast them from their hiding places."

"Fire burned in the southeastern part of Aachen and grey smoke drifted over the sprawling city."

"Under a bright sun, Aachen lay

Parade Tops Holiday Here

With a gala, three-division parade in downtown Boston, a band concert and patriotic pageant on Boston Common, and a Pan-American Columbia Festival in Symphony Hall tonight, the city today observes the 452d anniversary of Columbus discovery of America.

Although all Boston schools were closed, wag plants throughout the metropolitan area operated as usual in the production of vitally needed equipment. Boston stores will open at 1 p. m.

The day's celebration opened with a memorial mass of the Massachusetts Knights of Columbus at St. Clement's Church, Back Bay, at 9 a. m., while the North End Council, K. of C., sponsored a "Deafos" memorial mass at St. Mary's Church, North End, at 10 a. m.

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, speaking in St. Mary's Hall after the mass, declared Boston and New England must show the same vision and initiative at Columbus to assure post-war prosperity.

"We have capital and labor to spread New England goods to every part of the world," he said. "Air traffic combined with shipping will revolutionize business and, if we have the right vision and leadership, there is no end to the prosperity this country will know."

Municipal observance of the day started with Pan-American exercises at Parkman Bandstand on Boston Common at 11:30 a. m., with a band concert, community singing and a historical pageant. The exercises were followed by the parade at 2 p. m.

Marchers in the parade include units from all branches of the armed forces and their auxiliaries, military personnel of the Allies, and representatives of patriotic and civic organizations. Floats, armored cars and motorized units will be on exhibition after the parade at the athletic field on the Common.

The parade route is from Commercial and Hanover sts., through Scollay sq., to Tremont st., to Eliot st., through Park sq., to St. James ave., to Coligny sq., to Charles st., and into the Common.

Chief Marshal of the parade is Lt. Col. A. J. Lamoureux of the Scollay sq., to Tremont st., to Eliot st., through Park sq., to St. James ave., to Coligny sq., to Charles st., and into the Common.

Japs Attack Near Kweilin

CHUNGKING, Oct. 12 (AP)—Japanese forces have launched an attack on Chinese positions 25 miles north of Kweilin, vital defense center of Kwangsi Province, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

Fighting along the Hunan-Kwangsi railway front flared suddenly yesterday after the enemy was reinforced.

Woman Wills Million For Cancer Research

MIDLAND, Mich., Oct. 12 (AP)—The will of Mrs. James T. Pardee of Midland sets aside securities worth approximately $1,000,000 for research into control and cure of cancer. The estate was estimated at about $6,000,000.

Mrs. Pardee's husband, Dr. Pardee, who died last January, was a founder and former chairman of the Dow Chemical Co.

Boy AWOL 5 Days Tells All About It

The five-day disappearance of 11-year-old Paul Hart, Central ave., Hyde Park, was happily solved today by police, whom he told—as they gently collared him in the act of leaving a Scollay sq. penny arcade—that business cares had prompted him to seek a change of scene.

Master Hart emphasized that his bankroll, $14, had been not enough to finance a Miami fling. He was no big shot; that was for the tycoons who ran corporations and such; but at least he had seen Malden, plied himself with choice pastry, slept in an alley and was now reasonably familiar with Scollay sq.

His "captors," Detectives William Jennings and Stanley Slack, were impressed. They took the Tired Business Boy to Capt. Francis Haggerty. This, decided Haggerty, was plainly a matter for Comr. Thomas F. Sullivan himself to handle.

Paul explained he had been working pretty steadily on his newspaper route and by dint of careful business methods had achieved a net of $14 for the fiscal period ended Saturday, Oct. 7. He felt he was going stale on the job. Not being certain his father, Lt. William Hart of the fire department, or his mother, would approve his plan to get away from it all, he simply had walked out.

"See?" he asked the commissioner and company. "Everybody nodded and asked for more."

"So I went to Malden," said Paul, "but first I went to Scollay

Noxon Leaves Death Cell To Plead for New Trial

For the first time since he was committed to a death row cell on July 12, John F. Noxon, wealthy corporation counsel, who was convicted of electrocuting his mongoloid baby son, was allowed to discard his gray prison garb this morning and wear his own finely tailored clothes.

The occasion was a trip to Pittsfield, where motions will be heard tomorrow requesting a new trial.

He left Charlestown prison at 10:30 this morning accompanied by Warden Frank J. W. Langan and two guards, Perley Vance, supervising guard room officer, and Richard J. Flanagan, senior correction officer. He will be turned over to Berkshire County Sheriff Bruce McIntire this afternoon, after which he will be lodged in his old cell at Berkshire County jail.

If his appeal for a new trial is granted, he will remain in the Berkshire jail but if it is denied by presiding Judge Abraham P. Pinski, the three Charlestown officers will bring him back to his death row cell tomorrow night where he will await the electric chair.

When he came out of the jail this morning it was the first time he had caught a glimpse of the sky from outside prison walls for a long time. His face retained its usual patrician impassivity but he paused a moment and leaned on his two canes as cameramen crowded at the gate.

The only time his face lightened was when Bill Jones who took a picture for this paper nodded to him and said: "Thank you very much, sir."

Noxon smiled, gave a slight wave of the hand, then quickly entered the car in which he is making the Pittsfield trip.

At the prison he is considered

FREEED NEWSMAN HOME

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Gault MacGowan, the New York Sun's veteran war correspondent who was captured by the Nazis in France and later escaped, has returned to New York for a brief rest, the Sun announced today.

He is resolved on one thing: That the fight will continue unabated through the winter, if necessary, and as much longer as it may take to crush the enemy. There may be pauses in the Allied advances due to the ferocity of German resistance and our own supply problems, but there will be no let-up in aggressive action on the part of the Allies.

The present destruction of Aachen by the American First Army following refusal of the German commander to surrender to spare the town is a matter of field tactics, rather than general American policy toward German cities, he said. Field commanders, it was made clear, can use their own methods as long as they observe the rules of war.

While the general regards a sudden German collapse as always a possibility, he sees no reason to rely on it coming at any given time. The threat of the Red army in the east and the Allied army on German soil in the west can have no effect on the leaders who face the loss of everything, once they admit defeat, in Eisenhower's opinion.

He gave every confidence in the troops of the United States, Great Britain, France and all the United Nations to see this war through to final victory, and as long as they will see it through, I know that the soldiers and sailors and airmen possess the indomitable will to win. We have a hard job ahead but victory is certain."

The general appeared in excellent health.

Eisenhower said the Allied armies were entering Germany as conquerors and would treat the Germans justly.

Dewey to Make 4 New York Speeches

By GARDNER BRIDGE

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP)—New York promised today to become one of the hottest battlegrounds of the 1944 presidential campaign.

E. Dewey has scheduled four major addresses for the State and the White House has announced President Roosevelt will come to New York city Oct. 21 for his first speech outside of Washington since the campaign began.

Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan told a press conference recently that Mr. Roosevelt "may make more than one speech in New York State."

Both sides studied the registration of voters now under way in New York city. Instead of the decline expected because of the absence of servicemen, a sharp increase over the corresponding 1940 period was noted in the first two days' totals.

Dewey, first Republican to win the governorship in 20 years, lost New York city by less than 100,000 votes when he ran against former Atty-Gen. John J. Bennett, Jr., two years ago. The late Wendell Willkie lost it by 700,000 in the 1930 presidential race.

Dewey will address the New York Herald-Tribune forum next Wednesday, speak in Buffalo Oct. 31, and wind up his campaign with an address in New York's Madison Square Garden Nov. 4 and a studio broadcast on election eve, Nov. 6.

Babe for Dewey

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (INS)—Babe Ruth went to bat today for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, saying the nation needs a "new pitcher" in the White House. Appearing at a New York polling place to register as a first voter, the one-time Sultan of Swat said: "I am against a fourth term. Mr. Roosevelt is a great man but we have got to have a change. Mr. Dewey has done a good job as governor and before. He should have a chance as president."

F. D. Goes on Radio

In 2 Addresses Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt will deliver a brief radio address to an Italian-American labor council meeting in New York tonight a few hours after he went on the air (4 p. m.) with a Columbus Day message to Western Hemisphere republics.

The President's labor council speech will be to accept the organization's annual Four Freedoms award which will be presented to a Presidential representative at a New York dinner. The White House said Mr. Roosevelt would probably be heard about 8:25 p. m.

F. D. Says It's Time To 'Establish Peace'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today it is this nation's "objective to establish the solid foundations of the peace organization without further delay, and without waiting for the end of hostilities."

"Substantial progress has already been made and it must be continued as rapidly as possible," Mr. Roosevelt said in a radio address prepared for delivery at the White House before the chiefs of the diplomatic missions of other American republics.

There must be time for thorough discussion of the peace organization by "all peace-loving nations—large and small," Mr. Roosevelt said, adding that the charter of United Nations, like the United States Constitution, must be adaptable to changing world conditions.

The President, speaking on the occasion of Columbus Day, asserted: "We shall do well to remember we are the inheritors of the tradition of Christopher Columbus xxx. We shall require the same determination, the same devotion, as we steer our course through the great age of exploration and discovery which lies before us."

BRICKER SEES GOP SWING IN FOR WEST

By E. E. EASTERLY

EN ROUTE WITH BRICKER, Oct. 12 (AP) Gov. John W. Bricker, winding up a two-day campaign for Washington's eight electoral votes, said today he was "very encouraged."

The Republican candidate for Vice-President said at Vancouver, Wash., before proceeding into Oregon for five speeches, that "I had heard Washington was leaning Democratic when I came here, but now I am very encouraged."

Perhaps the most favorable evidence for the Republicans that he found in the State, the Governor added, "was the group of Democrats who told me they were switching to the Republican party."

He remarked that "I have been in politics long enough to know that is a good sign."

Reviewing his western campaign to this point, Bricker reiterated that he expected Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, and Missouri to give majorities to the Republican national ticket in the Nov. 7 election.

Governor Dooms Vote Law Change

Efforts of legislators to change Massachusetts voting laws to permit the counting of absentee ballots cast by members of the armed forces who since have died were ended today with announcement by Gov. Saffronstall that he would not call a special session of the Legislature.

His decision, made in answer to a request for a special session by Sen. Joseph L. Murphy of Dorchester, means that such ballots will not be counted in the Nov. 7 election.

Public Resentment Grows On Query About War Being On

Growing public resentment is being manifested in the unending stream of letters pouring into the Boston American today from men, women and children who are fed up with the silly query: "Don't you know there's a war on?"

Practically everyone at one time or another has been insulted within this question which in the majority of cases has been uttered to cover the speaker's own shortcomings and has been a virtual slap in the face to the listener.

Among the many excellent letters which have been received on the subject are some which have ignored the stipulation that they must not exceed 100 words in length. Unfortunately, failure to abide by this rule disqualifies the writer, regardless of the excellence of the letter. Members of the armed forces are not eligible.

Remember, only 100 words or less and a $50 War Bond will give you the writer of the best letter while $3 will be paid to the writer of each letter published. Address your letters to the I-Know-There's-A-War-On Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass.

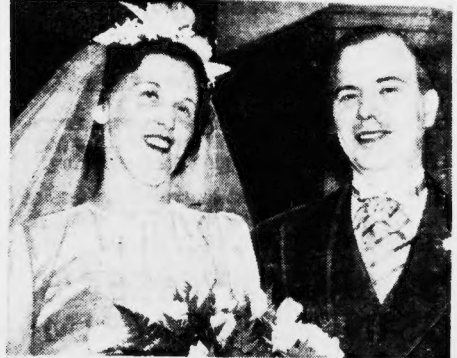

"I'll say we know there's a war on," writes Mrs. M. V. C. of South Boston. "My husband and I have six sons, our whole family at the fighting fronts. They can't even get razor blades but when I try to get them for the boys, I'm asked if I don't know there's a war on."

"If the clerks behind the counters would only stop and think, they could use another way of say 'we haven't got it,'" declares Mrs. J. N. R., of North Reading. "I'm a mother of six small children with my husband in the Army and a brother I haven't seen for two years in the Navy. I guess I know there's a war on."

"I see it every day in the eyes of my sister, whose husband has been a prisoner of war for more than a year," says I. M. H., of Brockton. "I see it in the eyes of my brothers' wives, their lovely lives. In the droop of my dad's shoulders as he said goodbye for the fourth time and at home where he and mom sit at a lonely table for two, which a short time ago held a happy family of eight."

"My time has been in service over four years and I've lost three of my dear friends," writes E. C., of Roslindale. "I work for the Navy and buy War Bonds. I've shared an evening of meals and fun with from 50 to 75 servicemen at my home on various occasions. I've written nearly 1500 letters to service men and have sent presents to at least ten at Christmas time."

"Not long ago I asked my grocer for butter and he asked if I knew there's a war on," reports Mrs. K. J. D., of Cambridge. "But he asked the wrong person and I guess he'll watch his step from now on. I told him I had lost a cousin in Italy and that my husband had been serving overseas for two years, that I was buying War Bonds, working in a war plant and had given five pints of blood to the Red Cross."

Abp. Cushing for Peace Based on Law of God

By JAMES J. DELANEY

Staff Reporter of the Boston Evening American

Archbishop-Elect Richard J. Cushing, administrator of the Catholic Archdiocese of Boston, urged that the structure of permanent peace should stand on "the solid, safe and sure foundation stone of the law of God" and "then let the experts put up the superstructure."

The new head of the second largest United States diocese met representatives of the religious and secular press in the only interview he plans prior to his installation as Archbishop of Boston Wednesday, Nov. 8.

A striking figure, youthful and vigorous, as he sat in an office in the Diocesan House on Lake st., he replied to every question he could with an authoritative answer, displaying a sparkling sense of humor.

He emphasized that he could not discuss a future Archdiocesan administrative program or appointments as he had no authority to proceed with them until he was installed. He said:

"I will tell you this. I was born, educated and was a priest in Boston for 25 years. So I love Boston. Waves symbolizing the Port of Boston I have included in my coat of arms. Boston should be a great port. I favor that."

"Of course I favor everything that will contribute to the growth and development of Boston. As messages came in from my Boston College classmates from distant parts it struck me one of the greatest contributions we can make to this growth and development would be to assist local college graduates to make their way in life here instead of going elsewhere."

"Some of the best talent in my class are scattered in distant parts when we could well use these assets in the community at large."

"Growth and development is not only along material lines."

A Latin motto, which when translated means: "That They May Know Thee" has been selected by the Archbishop-Elect for his coat of arms.

Boston's archdiocese has 100 chaplains serving with the armed forces—more than one-tenth of the clergy, above average for a diocese, which will be the "shock troops" to combat juvenile delinquency. He said:

"The training and experience these priests have had in dealing with men and the problems of men will be invaluable as assets when they are demobilized in dealing with what is called the problem of juvenile delinquency. The chaplain is the only officer who has intimate contact with the fellow down in the ranks."

"We have an even 100. If more are needed, please God, we will send them. It is the duty of the Catholic priest to follow the Catholic man and woman wherever the path leads."

"I am anti-anti to every movement or system that is anti to the fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man and the benefit of the individual soul. That means I am anti-anti religion, anti-anti Catholicism, anti-anti Protestantism, anti-anti Semetism and anti-anti Negro."

His new duties would compel him to give up the directorship of the Propagation of the Faith Society, he said, but added that he would always be extremely interested in its work and aided "all the spiritual agencies and missions which I have helped I will continue to help in my new station."

Missions, especially in the South Pacific and the Far East, would be and have been greatly assisted by the advent of the United States service men, he said.

The Pilot, official organ of the archdiocese, will be made a "more newspaper like—more newspaper with a human interest appeal, with pictures, etc."

Archbishop Cushing announced that Bishop Keough of Providence had been selected by him to preach the installation sermon.

Fore River Strikers All Back on Jobs

Normal operation was restored at the Bethlehem Fore River plant today as more than 7000 strikers went back to their jobs in agreement to accept arbitration of their pay grievances with the management.

Little Steel Wage Formula to Stay

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—An official in the first circle of administration advisers said today the Little Steel formula would be held where it is until victory in Europe or at least until military experts can safely name that day.

This is not considered as of today to be a pre-election possibility. Disclosure of what amounts to settled policy came as the result of a request for comment on yesterday's War Labor Board decision to omit recommendations for the forthcoming WLB report on wages and living costs.

The official, declining to be identified by name, expressed no surprise at the WLB action and said it was expected and was the sensible position to take.

He said, in effect, that the administration would not tinker with the delicate balances of a wartime economy; that it would be time for a change only when the end of wartime pressures is clearly in sight. Production cutbacks following V-E Day will relax competition for manpower.

A definite administration statement of this nature before the election is not considered likely, but it is believed that most labor leaders are now aware of the attitude of Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers.

Representatives of the state and federal governments, Bethlehem management, strikers and officials of the Independent Union of Fore River Workers went into conference at once. It was agreed to air the grievances of the pipe department first, then to consider the entire plant, department by department.

Prime movers in bringing about the truce were James T. Moriarty, state commissioner of labor and industries; John J. Sullivan, U. S. conciliation service, and William C. Horneman, state industrial relations adjuster.

Shortly before the day shift would be due to report under normal conditions Moriarty made a "back-to-work" talk from an automobile equipped with an amplifier. He urged the workers to accept the company's offer to arbitrate, made yesterday, but to return to their jobs as a primary condition of the arbitration.

The pipefitters led the parade back to work, followed by electricians, chippers, caulkers and turret workers. The shipfitters, last department in, were at work by 9:15.

The management stipulated that all issues which cannot be settled by mutual agreement with the workers "shall be certified to the War Labor Board, or shipbuilding commission, whichever has jurisdiction."

The strike began last Monday at noon when 2500 workers walked off the job.

Children Booby-Trap Yanks

By HAL BOYLE
WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, Oct. 7 (Delayed) (AP) — The greatest "booby traps" in Belgium were not those left by the Germans. They are those created by Dutch and Belgian kids to ensnare the candy and chewing gum of American troops.

The younger generation in these two small countries set out to corral all the sweets and cigarettes in the pockets of the American Army and the kids know more ways to levy tribute than Robin Hood and Jesse James together.

In 10 minutes, a gang of these junior highwaymen can strip a whole column of soldiers of every "bonbon" and stray cigarette. All the while they give the impression of conferring a favor.

which certainly is salesmanship of the highest order. They are tightly organized and they work together without much bloodshed, although occasionally one may get his nose crimsoned in a quarrel over dividing the spoils.

Having been a victim several times, I am completely acquainted with their snares. This is how they operate against the defenseless troops: You are driving along a road wondering how the St. Louis Browns ever got into a World Series when you pass a little girl about seven years old holding up a basket of ripe tomatoes and shouting "give los Americans!"

You pass by politely bellowing "give los Belges." About 75 feet farther on you pass a small boy holding up "free" apples. You sweep past and then see a little girl holding up a bottle of wine and a glass. Your jeep wobbles over and halts—in front of the bottle.

The little girl pours you a glass and watches closely. The second you drink it she lets out a yell and the fields become black with scores of small boys and girls rushing in for the kill. You are in debt now and fair game.

"Bonbon! Chocolate! Shooting gum! Cigarette pour papa!" they chant as the jeep begins to buckle under the weight of their swaying bodies. Little hands clutch at your necktie, paw at your pocket, thump your musette bag, pat your pockets.

There is no refusal, no escape. You claw frantically through your trousers and your pack, grabbing everything edible to silence the clamor of this sub-teen-age harem. You fling candy and cigarettes as far as possible and when the kids race away to retrieve them, you scraps the last little yelling monster off your scalp, shove him overboard and make a break for the open road.

Brother, you've had 'it! You pause for a free drink from a gallant little ally and you are lucky to get away with your jeep. No one can come out ahead of the younger generation in these parts.

Polish Premier Now in Moscow

By DANIEL DE LUCE

MOSCOW, Oct. 12 (AP)—Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the Polish government in exile reached Moscow today for negotiations with the Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation.

There was belief the Polish question would be settled one way or the other before Prime Minister Churchill leaves Moscow.

Members of the liberation committee arrived earlier from Lublin.

The importance of Polish reconciliation was admitted on all sides.

The Soviet-sponsored Poles from Lublin were reported firm in demanding that the 1935 constitution be abrogated that the President of Poland be short of his powers and that the Lublin commander-in-chief, Col. Gen. Rola Zymski, be head of the Polish armed forces.

Schiaparelli's Touch Visible In Showing of Styles in Paris

By LORELLE HEARST

Special Correspondent, N. Y. Journal-American

PARIS, Oct. 12—Schiaparelli opened without its master. I want to say her house has not missed her touch.

The designers in her establishment deserve applause for they have done the best collection she has ever had.

This collection does not have the startling effect that Madame achieved in the past but it is full of refinement and unusual touches.

I cannot describe all of her collection to you as I have not the time or space, and because I simply loved every dress, coat and evening ensemble in it.

If I were buying clothes for myself it would be very difficult for me to choose a few things due to the fact that I wanted every thing I saw.

The show started with the best ski outfit I have ever seen.

It was a red and dark brown wool one piece pants suit of checks and over this a brown corduroy skirt.

The pants can button up underneath the skirt and you have cute little checkered bloomers.

The top of the suit had a wide square yoke and on the head was a darling little bunny cap of brown corduroy.

She has done all circular skirts fitting over a high flaring with a lot of fullness at the bottom, broad shoulders with modified fullness of the shoulder and small inverted seams at the top armhole.

The outstanding colors were electric blue and black.

Buttons ran in true Schiaparelli form and were very unusual. Some were like toadstools, some like the brown sad eyes of the deer, others were amber with cutout open work.

The belts were all good. The best one was a narrow leather one with about four plaques of gold metal with a crest design.

Snoods were on almost every coat and worn over hats which were small pointed skull caps. Some had a jersey tied under the chin.

Every coat was lined with fur of some kind but all were fitted in the waistline with one exception.

One coat was a dream, black wool with a very very full cape back. The front was straight and close fitted and had a sable lined nood. When off the head it made a rich-looking cowl collar.

Other coats were plain with tiny notched collars and double breasted, but always with a fur piece tied in the shape of a collar.

One wool navy blue topcoat was exquisite. It was absolutely plain but it had a long sable scarf around the neck like a small tight collar, which continued down the back and winding around the waistline. It also had electric blue crepe gloves trimmed with sable.

Under this was an electric blue dress with tiny shearing over the tummy.

For the afternoon, she has given you the most beautiful satin short dress I have seen in a long time.

It has a square neckline, pinched in the center to give a heart effect, puffed sleeves elbow length and a full circular skirt. The belt was out of this world and was made of green metal like gold wire.

Another noteworthy creation was a black wool dress with fitted waist, flared skirt, full sleeves and black silk embroidery designed like a leaf from shoulder to cuff.

One more point to detail was that she has got buttons. The wrist, coat sleeves and gloves have buttonholes so that one can button the gloves onto the coat sleeves.

Schiaparelli has her famous dinner jackets. They are pretty but do not have as much embroidery as she usually has.

One, in particular, was outstanding. This was a long white satin jacket full around the hips, embroidered with black and pink sequins balls off the shoulders and all over the sleeves and pockets. With this went a black full crepe long skirt.

A really noteworthy evening ensemble was the answer to every woman's dream.

This was an electric blue long dress plain at the top with short sleeves and soft drapery folds over the hips, a long coat, and strawberry pink brocade silk with tubular bands and jeweled embroidery running across the front.

The belt was the same, tied tight like a bathrobe and there was a tubular jeweled cord also on the dress hanging from each hip looped over in front under the tummy.

Golly, I wish I had time to tell you more about this famous collection but I just must get on to the others.

Waste kitchen fats make explosives. Don't throw away a drop. Take them to your meat dealer.

N. E. to Fight 'Freeze' Plan

Labeling as "outrageous" and "vicious" the proposal to delay postwar conversion in New England, E. C. Johnson, treasurer of the New England Council, today urged this area's congressional delegation, business groups and farm organizations to "present a united front" against the plan.

Johnson made his suggestion in a letter to all council members on the proposal of Sen. Patrick A. McCarran of Nevada to freeze reconversion of war plants in 11 northeastern states to permit the South and West to gain equality in industry.

"It is urgently important that every member of the New England delegation in Congress hear immediately from his own constituents on this vitally important matter," he said.

Doctor Gets Gas But Must Explain

LEICESTER, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Leicester Ration Board delivered 33 (C) gasoline coupons to Dr. Joseph E. Coleman of the Rochdale section today but told him it would be necessary for him to provide a mileage breakdown before there'd be any more supplemental coupons.

Earlier, Dr. Coleman had taken down a sign on his lawn reading "out of gas. Unable to make calls. Consult local ration board."

The board had stated the doctor had not informed it he needed extra gas coupons.

William J. Murphy, a member of the gasoline panel of the board, said he planned to resign because of its action in issuing the coupons to the doctor.

Watch Union Head Charges WPB to Scuttle Industry

(AP)—Walter W. Cenerazzo, national president of the American Watch Workers Union (independent), said in Wallham today American manufacturers of synthetic jewels and jewel bearings had been told by the WPB to prepare to convert to other products by Oct. 30.

In a statement challenging a War Production Board report it had decided against any cutback at this time, Cenerazzo asserted "it is time for the board to tell the truth in this matter and really say it is going to scuttle this vital American industry."

Cenerazzo said the government was preparing to again import the jewels and jewel bearings from Switzerland, which supplied the United States before that country was "cut off" by the Axis.

"The synthetic jewel industry and jewel bearing industry cannot compete with Switzerland," he declared.

"This industry is one of the most important to national defense that there is today."

"When Pearl Harbor came this country was totally unprepared. The American jewel industry was born of this war. Without it you cannot have airplane instruments, chronometers, watches, clocks and other timing equipment so essential to modern warfare.

Bridges Hits Dumbarton Plan

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Pointing at Soviet intentions for absorbing European territory, Sen Styles Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire today declined the Dumbarton Oaks proposed international security organization—ignoring the principles of the Atlantic Charter and concentrating power in the hands of the "Big Four" threatened to become "a league of conquerors."

Unless the United Nations broadcast to the world its peace aims in line with the ideals contained in the Atlantic Charter and the subservient role of smaller nations is eliminated, the world's military, diplomatic, economic and political power would permanently remain in the hands of the "Big Four," Bridges added.

Bridges maintained the fact that no agreement could be reached among the British, Russian, American and Chinese delegations at Dumbarton Oaks concerning the voting procedure for peace enforcement "emphasizes this threat of domination."

Cash Sympathy For Dish-Breaker

Miss Lorna L. Slocombe, who objected to being asked "Don't you know there's a war on?" has another sympathizer one who backs it with cash.

The Boston bureau of the Associated Press today received a letter from Mrs. F. N. Scofield of West Hartford, Ct., containing a dollar bill marked "For defense fund—Miss Lorna L. Slocombe."

Mrs. Scofield said, "I am not encouraging breaking dishes—but I can understand her righteous indignation."

Miss Slocombe recently was arrested for breaking some dishes in a Cambridge restaurant after a waitress asked her the question.

Detroit Negress Confesses Kidnaping Baby, Dyeing Skin

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (INS)—Mrs. Eleanor Smith, 33-year-old Negress, has confessed the kidnaping of Bobby King, 4-month-old white child, and will be arraigned today on a kidnaping charge, County Prosecutor William E. Dowling announced.

Mrs. Smith admitted, Dowling said, that she had stolen the baby from his crib Sept. 30 and had attempted to pass off the infant as her own by coating his skin with sun-tan oil.

Exclusive information supplied to the police by the Detroit Times, a Hearst newspaper, dramatically broke the mystery. The Times had offered a $1000 reward for exclusive information leading to the restoration of the baby to his family and received hundreds of clues.

Two men, George D. McKee, an employee at the Federal building in DETROIT, and Claude Bender, Inspector in a Detroit war factory. Both called the Times after attending church services and becoming suspicious of the looks of the baby that Mrs. Smith brought to the service.

The Times today paid the reward to Bender and McKee after they agreed to divide it, $500 for each.

Meanwhile, without apparent emotion or tears, the woman who posed as a school girl nursemaid in one of the most fantastic plots ever to be recorded in Detroit police criminal annals, made a full and detailed confession to Dowling, admitting she abducted the infant.

Queried as to whether the woman had explained her reason for her action, Dowling said:

"It was the mother urge—simply the love of children.

General Electric answers your questions about JET PROPULSION

General Electric jet propulsion engines power the P-59A jet-propelled plane. You'll want to know these facts about one of the most unusual weapons to come out of the war.

Q: Is it like a rocket?

A: No. A rocket carries not only its fuel, but also the oxygen needed to burn it. A jet-propelled plane carries fuel for its G-E engine, but takes oxygen from the air as it travels through it. Thus, a rocket could theoretically travel to the moon. But because a jet-propelled plane cannot operate without air, it could never go beyond the earth's atmosphere.

Q: Is it like the German robot bomb?

A: A little. The robot bomb uses a crude form of jet propulsion. But it hardly compares with a power plant that can drive a combat plane. The G-E jet propulsion engine is the power plant for very fast, very high flying jet-propelled fighter planes. Pilots find these new planes easy to handle.

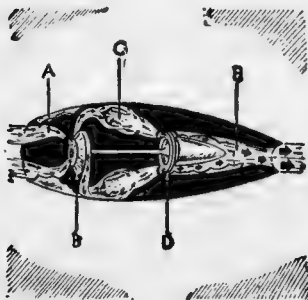

Q: What was G. E.'s part?

A: General Electric engineers developed the jet propulsion engine from an original design by Group Captain Frank Whittle of the R. A. F. General Electric was chosen to design and build this new engine by the Army Air Forces because of G. E.'s long experience with steam turbines and turbosuperchargers.

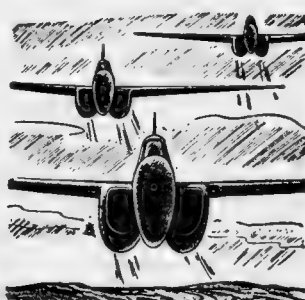

Q: What makes the jet plane go?

A: The same kind of force that makes a toy balloon scurry when it slips from your fingers. The same kind of force that makes a gun kick against your shoulder. The same kind of force that makes a rotary lawn sprinkler turn. In fact, you can probably think of a dozen other forms of jet propulsion that you see every day.

Q: How does the engine work?

A: Air flows from "A" through the compressor "B" into combustion chamber "C," where it is heated and expanded by burning fuel. Rushing toward the outlet, part of this hot gas turns turbine "D," which operates the compressor "B." From here the gas rushes through nozzle "E." The jet from this nozzle drives the plane forward.

Q: What does the jet plane look like?

A: At first glance it looks much like any other plane. But a closer look will show you that the propellers are missing and that there is no sign of conventional engines. Here is a sketch showing the P-59A, built for the Army Air Forces by Bell Aircraft. This plane is powered by two General Electric jet propulsion engines.

The General Electric jet propulsion engine is one of hundreds of products made by G. E. for the aviation industry. It is another example of how G-E science and engineering work to supply America's needs—in war and peace. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

200 Police in Times Square Try to Quell Sinatra Fans

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Heavy police reinforcements were dispatched to Times Square today as a police-estimated crowd of 25,000 teen-age Frank Sinatra fans stormed the Paramount Theater, where the singer is appearing.

The shrieking, fainting crowd rushed police about the theater, ripped the shirt of one policeman and smashed the window of the theater's ticket booth. Several persons fainted.

Police said the Columbus Day holiday was responsible for the extra large school-age crowds.

More than 200 policemen were stationed in the area after several outbreaks of disorder. An estimated 2000 girls in sweaters, bobbed socks and saddle shoes and boys in polka-dotted bow ties were at the theater at 7 a. m., police said.

Police Inspector John W. Conway estimated the crowds at 25,000 at 11 a. m. in addition to about 5000 inside the theater.

When Sinatra made his first appearance on the stage, the teenagers in the audience stamped their feet, screamed and ran up and down the aisles.

The outbursts were too much even for Sinatra, who several times asked for quiet and threatened to forget about the show unless the uproar subsided.

Navy Family Gets Quick Aid

The Navy Relief Society stepped in today to bring a speedy end to the plight of Mrs. Olivera Moore, of Eighth st., East Cambridge, and her two seriously ill children, who have been struggling along since August on $10 weekly because of delay in her husband's Navy allotment.

Officials of the naval organization said the delay in transmission of the allotment checks already was being investigated in Washington and should be cleared up in a few days. In the meantime it was said the society would furnish whatever financial and medical assistance was needed.

Her children, John, 4, and Raymond, 2, seriously ill with whooping cough, will be treated at a Navy clinic and the mother, in a run down condition, also will be given medical care, it was said.

Meanwhile, a sympathetic public, also was offering its aid to the young wife and mother who has not heard from her sailor husband since July.

SOLDIER HANGED IN BRITAIN

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12 (AP)—Bernard F. Craton, a 19-year-old sailor who participated in four invasions during his 19 months' service in Atlantic and European areas, was killed today while helping a friend in a street fight.

Homicide Detective Harry Moris said the youth's bridge-work apparently loosened during the affray, causing strangulation.

ALABAMA WAC FINDS HUB IRISH COP NICE

By ALICE BISSELL

"Ah think maybe he's Irish, what do y'all think?" drawled the WAC from Alabama.

Well, we all know he's Irish and we all think he's nice, but the WAC's of the Motor Transportation Corps attached to the First Service Command headquarters, Commonwealth ave., think the Boston police force is even more than that.

To these girls whose job is to drive throughout the city that is strange to many of them, our policemen are travel-guides, friends, morale-builders and pals who'll get them out of a little jam sometimes.

"One day ah was down-town parking the jeep, and ah parked it kah the no-parking sign. A great big cop remanded me of this fact and ah told him ah couldn't read Yankee writing," said T-5 Mae L. Smith, 36, the WAC from Alabama.

Mae said he felt sorry for her, let her park there while she did errands, and advised her, if she was homesick, to stop at the corner of Tremont and Boylston sts. and say hello to his pal, Officer Jones by name.

"Ah did that. Ah held up traffic half an hour talking to rade-headed Officer Jones. He was born in Alabama, and could talk about home. Ah think he was Irish."

Mae says you have no idea how good it is to have a pal who'll smile and shout "Hi, Divie!" during the long hours of hard work driving in convoys, 28-passenger buses loaded with troops, ambulances, 1½-ton trucks, transporting wounded veterans and civilian and Army workers.

PFC Kathleen Walker, 25, of Texas, who lives at the WAC barracks, Hotel Beaconsfield, with the 20 other members of the Corps, says she couldn't have done her job without help and directions from police.

But their particular pet is the famous boy in the box at Commonwealth ave. and Cottage Farm bridge. It's right outside their headquarters the heaviest traffic corner in the State and the happiest for WACs.

Because that's where Traffic Officer Ed Cavanagh of the Traffic Division gives them a big smile when they start out on missions all over the 1st Corps Area, and smiles again when they get home.

"I try not to take advantage of his good nature and take a left turn," says Sgt. Mabel Caddy, 38, of Lincoln ave., Saugus.

He's the officer who made news when he threw away his traffic whistle and whistles through his teeth.

"Yeh," he says, "I'm Irish and I've got a lot more to whistle at now the WACs are in town. Imagine thinking it's just another truck coming down the street and then getting a smile from Sgt. Caddy."

Corset Demand Plagues England

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP) — England's women are demanding more and better corsets and the Corset Guild is seeking action from the government.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Over one year ago I received an inaptitude discharge from the Navy, because of being unable to withstand sea weather. I would like to know if I get veterans' preference or not?

A—If you served over 90 days active duty you are eligible for vets' preference and "GI" Bill provisions.

J. K., Medford.

Q—Will a veteran qualified in all respects to benefits under the GI Bill, 45 years of age, not disabled, be able to purchase a farm under loan provision and then get college extension service training and courses under supervision of government? Furthermore, will he be allowed the $500 for tuition and draw $75 monthly for dependency during the 12-month period.

A—Your question is a complicated one. In the first place you will be unable to show that your education was interrupted in order to come under the educational phase of the bill. Secondly you must show that you are capable of operating a farm under terms of the loan provision. The Dept. of Agriculture has announced they will assist such prospective owners in operating successfully. No doubt you will receive a course in agriculture, etc., if interested, but regards to receiving the allotted $500 is one that Vets' Administration will settle with you as such time when you make application. No definite decision could be obtained at this time.

Q—My husband is a veteran of World War I. Can he get a pension from the government even though he did not receive any disability. He is of course getting old and not able to work full time? F. L. Dorchester.

A—No, your husband cannot receive any pension from govt. unless he has a service connected disability. Various veteran organizations have been working on such legislation, similar to what Spanish-American War vets receive, but have thus far been unsuccessful.

Q—I have a $5000 National Service Life Insurance policy which I took out when entering the Army. Now honorably discharged and would like to reduce the insurance into ordinary insurance. What is the lowest amount I can take out and where do I make necessary application? J. N., Cambridge.

A—The amount you may continue cannot be less than $1000 and can be made by writing a letter to Veterans' Administration, Washington 25, D. C. State the exact amount you wish to continue and type of insurance, also beneficiary designation. With this letter you should send money order or check in an amount to cover the first premium on the reduced insurance. Veterans' Bureau will give you amount necessary.

(Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend Editor, Boston Evening American, will be answered in this daily column.)

Boston-Montreal Air Service Resumed

COLUMBUS DAY

By HARRY H. SCHLACHT

TODAY is Columbus Day. Four hundred and fifty-two years ago, the stout heart of an Italian sailor—Christopher Columbus—with great determination and a great faith, plowed the unfurrowed waves and claimed for God and mankind a new world.

It is but a heartbeat in the march of time. He has brought to humanity a treasure house of God-given gifts.

A GREAT miracle occurred upon the earth. A new continent was discovered. It was called America. It was named after an Italian.

It was God's country.

Here was a world with giant forests and mighty rivers, with endless plains richer than the Nile, cascades that sparkle and dance in the sunlight, majestic mountains that rose in towering grandeur to the very feet of the Creator.

IN THIS LAND our heritage grew and flourished.

A new race was to rise—not with a single origin—but from the blended blood of the best people from every country.

They have brought with them the finest fruits of their civilization and left in the ashes that burned through the centuries the hatreds and jealousies that divided people and destroyed empires.

IT IS FITTING that on this day we pay loving tribute to Columbus and his people. The roots of Italian migration have their origin in early Colonial days.

Their names are written in our history with their blood, brawn and bravery.

They have been the defenders of the faith, justice and liberty.

They have never failed to consecrate their hearts and souls to the greater glory of "Old Glory."

The blood of her martyred sons has flowed down the slopes of Bunker Hill; stained the snow at Valley Forge; crimsoned the sod at Gettysburg; poured over Flanders Field and is now being shed in the flaming fighting fronts for freedom.

ITALY HAS given America her theme of freedom.

In her paintings, in her letters and arts, in the great expressions of her beings runs her Renaissance—"Risorgimento"—like a golden thread to bind her great gifts of genius to the world.

The spirit of liberty, the passion for democracy, love of beauty and music and all the fine impulses of the human spirit flowered and blossomed with rich fertility on her soil.

Italy has given to exploration a Columbus, to sculpture a Michelangelo, to painting a Titian, to science a Marconi, to military art a Garibaldi, to theology, a St. Thomas Aquinas, and to music a Toscanini.

She has given to the world a code of laws that will stand for all times as a sheet anchor for civilization.

TODAY WE welcome Italy in the war against tyranny.

Marching along with the United Nations, she will enjoy a new birth of freedom—liberated from the oppressors of humanity who seek to extinguish the light of liberty.

We and they are determined upon an order of which the Bible is the Atlantic Charter—the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God.

And when that happy day shall come, when freedom is won in the war and in the peace, the Goddess of Liberty will be the symbol not of the nation but of the world.

WHEN READING of divorce proceedings I always try to decide who is to blame. I have just read of a Chicago divorce case, in which I think the little lady was greatly wronged. The husband owned some trained monkeys. He brought these monkeys to live in his apartment. He insisted the monkeys eat at the table. At times the husband would be absent from home and leave his wife with the monkeys. For a time the wife kept the monkeys under control by throwing stones at them. But after a few weeks of this the monkeys learned to throw the stones back. It was then the wife decided to get a divorce. For which, I for one, do not blame her.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. Is there really a husband's protective association anywhere? A. Certainly. There is such an organization in New Haven, Ct. Q. You refer to Jimmy Sheekard as "a former Dodger outfielder." You should know better. Please be informed Sheekard was a Chicago Cub outfielder. A. Sheekard played for Brooklyn before he joined the Cubs. Please forward story quickly. I am getting short of same. . . . Q. So you're a Bible expert? Then tell us what Biblical passage could be used to announce a blessed event. A. I have never claimed to be an expert on the Bible. However, I know that Isaiah 9:6 reads as follows: "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given."

SIDEGLITS. A New Yorker says he has an Irish setter which is afraid of the dark. When this dog is left at home alone he switches on the electric light with his paw. . . . Sacramento, Cal., Boston and Philadelphia are said to be the worst towns for tips in the country. The standard tip for a waiter in Sacramento is a nickel. New York, Chicago and San Francisco are the three best cities for tips.

SOMETHING NEW: It is reported that a British inventor named Thomas has originated a machine for "measuring glamour and weighing sex appeal." That sounds like really something. It should revolutionize the bathing beauty contests. Of this invention a man of science states: "It is a perfectly balanced machine that takes into account all the qualities that make for it, Ginger Rogers' good figure, coloring of hair, eyes and skin and personality. It also measures pulse throbs." I can hardly wait until this machine reaches Hollywood and they start measuring the glamour and weighing the sex appeal of the film colony cuties. What star do you think would have the best glamour measurements and whose sex appeal do you think would weigh the most? How about Ginger Rogers?

ASIDES: A bartender should know how to mix at least four different drinks from memory. If he can't, he is not a competent bartender. So states a Chicago cafe owner who employs a number of bartenders. . . . Otto Otto of New York city has been made a member of the Double Barreled Repeating Name Club. He is already a member of the Reversible Name Club, made up of those whose names spell the same backwards and forwards.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Ken Ali, Brooklyn bowling alley employee, who is 83, claims his father lived to be 136 and his mother to be 134. . . . Am asked by a Boston subscriber named Dooley if I have "any Irish" in me. My mother's father was born in Ireland. Also have some Irish in me from my father's side, though he was born in London.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—At the end of Harold Ickes' speech, Gene Fowler, who had heard the oration by radio, turned to W. C. Fields and remarked: "If this fellow keeps on talking, Dewey is going to lick Roosevelt with the jawbone of an ass."

Mr. Ickes had made merry over the fact that Lionel Barrymore, who had been ill for a long time, greeted Tom Dewey from a wheelchair when Dewey arrived in Los Angeles on his recent tour, and on the evening of Dewey's political meeting, did not even send the empty wheelchair to represent him.

This remark was in contrast to that compact of civilized decency which, throughout Ickes' long term on the public payroll in Washington, had forbidden reference to the infirmities of a stricken man.

By the same unspoken and unwritten understanding, all men and women above that ethical sub-stratum which may be termed the Ickes level, instinctively forbear to mock the lame or halt or blind for their impairments.

THE ELEMENT to which Ickes was speaking was not, as one might suppose, altogether cynical and vile. The Communists, of course, predominate and out-voice the men and women, actors, writers and others, of the luxurious class, who are Democrats or even New Dealers for honest motives and convictions. There are many among this group who distinguish between political license and demagogic bestiality.

And so, that night, the horrid taunt to a distinguished and respected colleague, delivered in a ribald appeal to political passion, was followed by a sharp drop in temperature.

It was as though Fowler, speaking to Bill Fields, many miles away, had conveyed to the decent Democrats of Hollywood his inspired thought that if this fellow talked much more, Dewey would lick Roosevelt with the jawbone of an ass.

SO STRONG is the instinct of decency in our standard American journalism that, in most of the published accounts of Ickes' speech, a dignity and kindness of which he was, himself, so brutally ignorant, protected him.

This sneering reference to a sick man's misfortune was deleted in the standard press although it probably was in the left-wing publications which now, in a sort of English, emulate the nasty little ephemerae which cluttered the news-stands of Paris, Madrid and Barcelona.

These two incidents, the Dewey rally with 99,000 Americans present in Los Angeles where the Communists have wrougled so noisily for 20 years and the antic of the visiting crutch-kicker, may serve to publicize the fact that the opposition in Hollywood is strong, patriotic and defiant.

Hundreds of actors, writers and directors and a few producers, have stood fast, unorganized and ostracized, against concerted malice, conspiracies, boycotts and whispered smears. They are, in the main, Democrats but anti-Communist and anti-fourth-term.

THE MOVIE INDUSTRY, as a whole has been a subsidiary, for propaganda, of the New Deal and in favor of Communism or Communist elements and ideas.

It has ridiculed Congress to the point of utter detestation. It has damned the American press, preached the futility and failure of the American way of life and government and extolled the system which deliberately organized ghastly famines and mass deportations.

The movie industry has never examined its own corruption, however, or produced a single film which criticized the tendencies of the Roosevelt government.

It has taken courage there in Hollywood to flout and fight the Continental influence and invite the insidious persecution practised by the native Communist element who were among the hosts to Ickes when he visited an afflicted man.

Fowler, Fields, James K. McGuinness, ZaSu Pitts, Jeannette MacDonald, Walt Disney, Leo Carrillo, Frank Craven, Ilona Massey, Lionel Barrymore and hundreds of others, famous, with everything to lose or obscure, with everything to gain, have defied the terror.

The cheese-cake glamour of Mrs. Roosevelt's friend, Helen Gahagan, turned to senescent lumber in the Chicago convention and the Hollywood forces of resistance came out from underground when Dewey hit Los Angeles.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12—A quarter of a million dollars is the price being asked for the film rights to "The Life of Al Smith," the man who came up from the sidewalks to be elected Governor of New York for four terms and to be nominated by his party for the office of President of the United States. With "Willkie" making history and breaking records, every major studio has evinced interest in filming Smith's life. The Smith family has signed releases and all rights are said to be in the hands of Joseph Israel, a writer and close friend of the late political figure.

Israel also controls the two biographies of Smith, "Alfred E. Smith, an American Career," and "Up From the City Streets."

THE LONG DISCUSSED "Colonel Effingham's Raid" is at long last to be made. Lamar Trotti is producing the screen play, which was written by Kathryn Scola, and says that not a single Southern accent will be used because such accents sound phony to real Southern audiences. Trotti should know because he comes from Georgia. Charles Coburn, "Colonel Effingham," is entitled to a drawl because he also comes from Georgia. I was interested that Joan Bennett is to have the feminine lead.

WHAT DARRYL ZANUCK intends to do with "One World," the late Wendell Willkie's book, has not yet been determined by him or by 20th. I talked to Darryl, thinking perhaps the book would have added value with the passing of Mr. Willkie. He said he would do nothing until he talked with Mrs. Willkie. Simon and Schuster is bringing out Willkie's letters, which should be on the stands very soon, and it is possible that 20th will buy them to combine with "One World."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: George Jessel says it's love with him and Carole Landis. He was at Charley Foy's with red-headed Marianne O'Brien, and at the opening of "Winged Victory" with still another girl. Cameras clicked at the opening trying to get Joan Fontaine, who, in a filmy black dress, was a picture. Norma Shearer looked so pretty one fan asked why she isn't making pictures. Her happiness with Marty Arouge is evident, for she is radiant these days. Barbara Stanwyck came with Mary Benny. Lt. Robert Taylor is in Chicago and Jack Benny's cold still continues. Lee Tracy has gone into the real estate business on the side and is making more money than he does as a star; Margo is considering doing a South American musical with Miguel Covarrubias.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—The CBI Roundup is a weekly newspaper of the U. S. Army published by and for the men in China, Burma and India. It is official and carries the imprimatur of authority.

I am explaining all this because I do not think I am going out of the way to pick on movie stars.

Everything I have to report is either taken directly from the CBI Roundup or from a letter duly passed by Army censors from a fighting editor of the publication.

THE ROUNDUP seems to be doing its best to be fair because it gives unstinted praise to the majority of entertainers who have visited the China-Burma-India theater. But it cracks down on a few celebrities who have gained reams of publicity "for the hardships suffered in entertaining our boys."

The Roundup grip begins: "For quite some time now the editors of the Roundup have kept their editorial yaps shut on a matter that has caused them considerable pain—to wit, the casual fashion in which big-name entertainers drape from Hollywood and elsewhere, turn up in CBI with accompanying bullhoo, stay around long enough to send out their laundry and then truck off for home."

"We do not wish to kiss off the efforts of those who came out here and really did a job."

"But when we are promised big-time entertainment, and the entertainers show up with hazy routines that would get yawns at a free-dish matinee in Springfield, O., and then drag it after a month or six weeks, something ought to be done."

This gentleman's essay was prompted by a statement credited to a female movie star to the effect that she is anxious to return to overseas entertaining but she does not want to return to CBI because it is "too rough."

THE ROUNDUP editor further complains that:

"This carry out her commitments but went away knocking the theater. She refused to appear more than once a day (Shades of the old vaudeville 12-a-day!)."

"She also cut the shows short because the audiences wasn't to her liking and she wouldn't appear at night because of those awful, awful bugs."

"And she refused to associate in any way with enlisted men."

THE ROUNDUP agrees that CBI is pretty rough, but adds that this has never been kept secret.

"The entertainers know all this," says the Roundup. "They enter into an agreement with the War Department to stay a definite length of time. The shows are booked well in advance and announced at every base where they are scheduled to play."

"So what happens? These selfless patriots who, incidentally, are well fed, clothed, housed, transported and paid by the Army and USO, discover in a couple of weeks that CBI is hot, wet and full of mosquitoes."

"So they suddenly develop prior commitments, serious ailments, envious vices and God knows what else."

That last is a reference to an actor who said he had to go home because he was an expectant father. The Roundup comments that it hasn't heard any confirmation of the fatherhood yet.

THE NEWSPAPER says that still another actor announced his intention of coming to CBI for 60 days and was duly billed.

"When last seen he was a husky, over-6-foot male," adds the Roundup. "He got as far as Cairo and heard tell that 'CBI was tough.' He never did get any farther than Cairo."

The newspaper then goes on to say that another actor played out the string and two weeks more than he promised.

The newspaper listed one actor as committed to 120 days in CBI but who played less than half the schedule and decamped.

Still another never did show up.

THE ROUNDUP editor adds:

"These big-name folks talk

By George Dixon

about it being 'tough.' They get the best of everything—they travel on special planes, get fussed over by colonels and generals, are given special food and treated to hounded liquor."

"But they are going to find out they made a mistake. The many, many soldiers who made special trips from God knows where in the branches to see them, are going to tip the folks back home to what kind of patriots these folks are!"

HERE IS the Roundup's concluding editorial blast:

"Spore us from publicity-seeking big-name actors who are not prepared to stick it out after their stardom has been agreed upon. Better nothing at all than the promise, followed by the disappointment."

SORRY to have been so somber today, folks. But the gripe of the soldiers in CBI doesn't seem so funny.

George Holland Boston After Dark

THE SCALPERS WERE ASKING $15 a pair, and getting it, for the Notre Dame-Dartmouth game Saturday... Depending on the demand, the gyps' price will fluctuate between $10 and $20 a pair... Speaking of price, this column impartially passes along some sage advice from a source it considers authentic... If the short-end bettors can go along with odds of 10-1, instead of the usual three or four to one odds on a fight, they might risk a deuce or two on Izzy Jannazzo against Ray "Sugar" Robinson and enjoy a mild chance of collecting.

AND HERE IS ANOTHER observation on the boxing game and its participants... A welterweight named Jimmy Doyle, who is not a relative of that other fist-slinging ring hero Jack Doyle, is to fight at the Garden on Oct. 20, his opponent not yet selected... Doyle, they say in California, can really fight, and he is said to be handsome and a Beau Brummel (like the other Doyle was)... With these promotional advantages and a fighting "heart," this new Doyle—new in relation to his non-relative Jack who married Gus Sonnenberg's ex-wife, Judith Allen—will be winning himself a certain chance at a main bout in the New York Garden before Christmas.

SECRETS: The chief disappointment accruing over the years to this column in its occasional guise of Columbus is embodied by the frail Woody Herman and his band... This corner was Woody's chief belly-hooer a half-dozen years ago... And the young leader was most effusively thankful... Now, the worse ear-pain on the radio is that awful moment when the Herman orchestra is blaring away before we have time to twist hastily toward a new station... How that band can screech!

FLASHES AND FLASHBACKS: Francis X. Bushman, the matinee idol of the early movies, was being quoted by a New York reporter: "What was the wildest incident in my career? It was the time Mary Pickford and I went to Boston for a benefit... President Taft was on the train and he sent for me... He and I enjoyed me—he'd watched the demonstration of the station—Mary had had her clothes almost torn off her, and I looked the wish of God... 'All the people love you,' said Taft, 'and I can't have the love of half the people.'"

Get the First Invitations

DEAR MRS. BRECKMAN: Is it correct to send a wedding invitation to the mother and father of the prospective bridegroom? And is it correct to send an invitation to the best man? We have had a discussion about this, and I maintain that it is improper to send these people invitations, since they belong to the wedding party.

S. K.

I'm sorry . . . but you're wrong about this. The mother and father of the bridegroom are not members of the wedding party . . . they are guests of honor at the wedding, and the invitation to them, the most important of the invitations, should be the first one mailed. Any invitation should also be mailed to the best man.

Glamour for the Eyes

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THIS FALL really IS different. Women's hearts and minds are racing ahead . . . standing still . . . doing spirals that soar and soar with hope and faith. He'll Be Back Soon is as much the national anthem as The Star Spangled Banner in every woman's heart. And . . . don't ask us why . . . we always get more thrills out of a Big Moment if we're looking our loveliest.

So, this year, fashions are unbelievably extravagant. Things are soft, swishy, moonlight, lavishly romantic.

Clothes are fuller, praise be. You can be mysterious again . . . Victorian with a big hat, a cameo at your throat, violets at your belt. Or baroque, Renaissance, sumptuous in velvet and satin . . . a tiny puff crowned beret on your head like a page boy's . . . or a Breton, covered with roses. Our designers know what they're doing . . . for you. And, we know you'll be ravishing this winter.

That's why we say it is an essential to accent your eyes as the dramatic counterpart of all this new-found loveliness. Maybe you don't dare . . . or don't care about giving your eyes fascination . . . the subtle kind that creates that wide-eyed look staring out from between curled up lashes of long, baffling darkness.

THIS MASCARA SO EASY TO APPLY

We don't advocate glamorous overdoes of mascara . . . but in deft, delicate applications it will bring out depth and lustre of your eyes and express feminine artfulness with boldness and captivation. This new waterproof silky-cream mascara . . . made of fine adherent oils . . . that is also smudge-proof and rain-proof is a color softener for eyelashes . . . yet there is nothing artificial about the appearance.

Just a few strokes of a wisp of a feather . . . and instantly your lashes look SO long, darker, silkier and more luxurious. The cream oozes out of a tube . . . and taken up by the feather . . . is applied directly to the lashes.

For the name of this waterproof, smudge-proof cream mascara, phone the Beauty Dept., LL3erty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jealous, Suspicious

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: After two years of marriage we're going to have a baby. But I'm so unhappy. All on account of my jealous and suspicious nature. I don't have any interest in life, feel so moody most of the time that sometimes I think I'm going insane. I imagine my husband stays with me just because I'm going to have his baby.

My husband is so popular that he is seldom at home, and of course I can't go with him. I'm afraid he will find another girl who will appeal to him, and he tells me I'm unreasonable.

My doctor says I'm to blame for all my troubles and that I should remove the chip from my shoulder. How can I get rid of this inferiority complex?

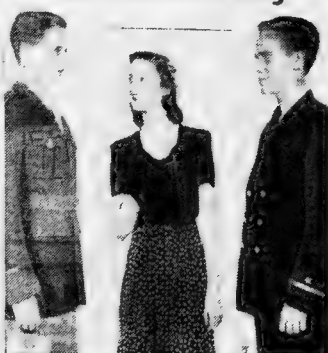

(MRS.) J. M. C.

Please give a little consideration to the baby you're expecting. Don't you realize that your moods are apt to affect the future life of this little one? Most of us have the urge to feel sorry for ourselves. But it must be out of the question for any woman expecting a baby, including you.

Why don't you try to get a few outside activities of your own? Offer your services to the Red Cross; they're always glad for anyone's help, and they have plenty to do. This is also a good way to make friends.

As your doctor says you must remove the chip from your shoulder. Why not try to do it? You have a home, a husband, and are expecting a baby. Thousands of women would give a great deal for any one of these blessings. Stop thinking about yourself and help someone else. The best of luck to you.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY — Yesterday afternoon I represented my husband at Wendell Wilkie's funeral.

One or twice did I ever have the opportunity of meeting Mr. Wilkie personally, and I never had an opportunity to talk with him. Yet no one who has watched his political career during the past few years could have failed to recognize the growth of the man and his great leadership qualities.

The loss of a man of courage is deeply felt at all times by any American citizen as a loss to the country, but especially at the present time it affects each one of us to know that such potentialities for good leadership have been removed from this troubled world. It leaves us all poorer; for men of honest convictions, though they may differ, are bound to make a contribution to the thinking of the world.

I NEVER SAW A CHURCH with so many flowers, which spoke of the love that people felt for this man. I know that among the friends who knew him well there was the deepest sense of personal loss, as well as of public loss.

Mr. Wilkie's son, who is on the high seas and will never see his father again, has nevertheless something bequeathed to him which will be very precious as the years go on. The gift of making friends, and of binding his following close, is a thing one's children are always grateful for, for it means much to them throughout their lives. To Mrs. Wilkie and all the family, the heart of this whole nation goes out in sympathy.

MR. WILKIE placed great emphasis on the need we have in this country to be just to all of our citizens, because without equality there can be no democracy. His outspoken opinions on race relations were among his great contributions to the thinking of the world.

Hemlines Important

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IT IS important for you folks to go on your own voyage of discovery and find out what your hemlines are like. For though this line is always the end of a dress or a coat, it is not less noticeable because it is at the bottom.

A hem can make or break your looks just as effectively as any other line in your dress. Unless you are very young and slim and shapely, you ought not to wear a very narrow skirt that is likewise very short. You won't look good in it. Your skirt can be a bit wider and a little longer and give all the style effect of something that will not flatter you.

This reason there is a general letup of the super narrow skirt and there isn't any reason for any girl who doesn't look her best in one to wear it. Your skirts should be graceful above all, and at the same time becoming to you.

Autumn Treats

By MARTHA LEE

BRISK FALL WINDS waft messages of good food when the air is filled with the rich aroma of sweet yeast rolls. With a good basic sweet yeast dough as October's star food performer, the homemaker finds each day's meals receive plenty of applause from the family as well as the many meal-time guests.

Here is a recipe for a versatile sweet yeast dough which lends itself to many roll fillings and toppings.

SWEET YEAST DOUGH

2 pkgs. yeast, compressed or dry granular 1 cup milk
1 cup lukewarm water
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar 1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. grated lemon rind
5 cups sifted enriched flour (about) 2 eggs, beaten
Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add shortening, sugar, and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups flour. Mix well. Add softened yeast, eggs, and lemon rind. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth. Shape into balls. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Shape into tea rings, rolls, or coffee cakes. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 25 to 30 minutes. For coffee cakes, 20 to 25 minutes for rolls. Makes two 12-inch tea rings, 2 coffee cakes, 8X3 inches, 3½ dozen rolls.

Many are the kinds of fillings and toppings that make elegant fluffy rolls and tender coffee cakes. New fillings and toppings always receive warm welcome by the homemaker as she is especially eager these days of high food costs to keep her meals interesting in a most economical way.

The good old standbys, Cinnamon Sugar, made by mixing 1 teaspoon cinnamon with ½ cup sugar, and orange or lemon sugar, made by mixing 1 teaspoon grated orange or lemon rind with ½ cup sugar, are still favorites of the family. These delightful flavors are a pleasing addition to the fragrant yeast dough.

For those who are especially fond of candied fruit peel, now making its holiday entrance, add 3-4 cup chopped candied fruit peel and 3-4 cup chopped nuts to a cinnamon-sugar mixture. This topping makes a most delectable way to start meals in a holiday air, for the tangy peel signifies the beginning of the holiday season.

FRUIT FILLINGS

Yeast rolls made in jelly roll fashion long for succulent spreads to give them that "chewy" lusciousness. Dried fruits are again lending their golden hues to grocery counters. Let their rich flavors pep up sweet yeast rolls. To make an inviting dried fruit filling, follow these directions:

1 cup ground raisins
1 cup ground dried apricots
1 cup ground dates
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. lemon juice
1½ cups boiling water
Mix dried fruits, sugar, lemon juice and water. Cook 5 minutes. Add to this fruit mixture 2 tablespoons cornstarch which has been mixed with ½ cup water. Cook until mixture is clear and glossy, about 15 minutes. When cool, spread fruit filling on sweet yeast dough rolled ¼ inch thick.

FRENCH TOPPING

Another topping which will heighten the pleasing fragrance of coffee cakes or rolls is made by mixing:
1 cup enriched flour
1 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon 1 tsp. salt
Cut or rub in ¼ cup margarine or butter until mixture is crumbly. Add ¼ cup chopped nuts. Mix well. Sprinkle on rolls or coffee cakes.

*You say
there's not enough

"Yes, that's the way Webster-Thomas, the Matchless Brand Food people explain it to me. You see, they're tremendously proud of their reputation for unexcelled quality. They guard it so carefully that they simply will not put out a single one of their more than 200 varieties of Matchless Brand Foods unless it is absolutely fancy. In spite of bumper crops, unprecedented demand for fresh fruits and vegetables makes it difficult and in some cases impossible for them to obtain first quality. Right now, take peaches or asparagus, there's not enough that is good enough. The Matchless Brand folks have looked over what is available and have said thumbs down. That's why I and other grocers are fresh out of these and several other Matchless Brand Foods that I know will eventually be back, sold as always only by independent grocers."

But... NOW AVAILABLE

Among the Matchless Brand Foods you can now have — supreme in quality — are coffee, tea, mayonnaise, peanut butter and many other delicacies. Matchless Brand Coffee, for example, is an inspired blend of the finer, more costly grades, and Matchless Brand Tea remains a connoisseur's choice.

POST WAR PLANNING FOR INDEPENDENT GROCERS

Our retail distribution will be confined, as in the past, to independent grocers. But, we expect to extend our sales area. If you are an independent grocer anywhere in New England, write me concerning your possible participation in our post-war plans.

Aachen

like a festering sore in the path of the First Army—battered and beaten by a terrible weight of explosives but not destroyed. It is too big to be wiped out entirely except by weeks of steady pounding.

"In a move of utter folly late yesterday, the Germans brought their columns from the east toward Aachen in broad daylight, to attack the Americans' virtual ring of steel about the city. The two-pronged assault force, estimated at division strength, moved into the open under direct observation of the Yanks.

"More than 100 big guns, including 240-millimeter rifles, turned on these columns, which moved into action at about dusk. A battle raged for two hours. Then the shattered enemy columns fell back. They had failed either to relieve or reinforce Aachen's defenses.

"At 8 a. m. today the American infantry began its move on the ancient city of Charlemagne, driving toward the factory district on the northeast side, known as Schlachhof, and toward Observatory hill, which looks down on Aachen from the northern edge of the city.

"The enemy is hidden in ancient caves, sewers and basements which are almost impenetrable to air and artillery attack—but we'll take it," a high ranking officer said.

"Despite the fires and smoke, in the clear sunlight of noon today I could see the tall, blackened spire of the cathedral in which Charlemagne was buried.

"The demolishers came over at

"You gotta hand it to him—makin' it feel like back home while we vote for President!"

10 a. m. They circled swiftly in the blue sky and then plummeted down. The first bombs fell east of Crucifix Hill on enemy troops who were beaten back in yesterday's counter-attack. Great columns of smoke rolled up and there was one terrific explosion as though an ammunition truck or dump had received a direct hit.

"Pvt. Herbert McCabe of Neodesha, Kan., stared out of the window of our vantage point—an old barracks overlooking Aachen and said:

"Last night at 6 p. m. we couldn't even see across the town at any place, there was so much smoke from the artillery barrage. They really laid it on."

"And they were laying it on again today. Another flight of Thunderbolts, diving in and laid a pattern of explosives on Observatory Hill. There was a fury of sound in diving planes, exploding bombs and the crash of artillery.

"Then suddenly it was so quiet in one of those strange lulls in battle that you could hear the birds singing and the wind sighing through the trees. There was not even the sound of a single rifle shot. At our feet a black cat with white stockings lay in Quellenhof Hotel area and the factory area on the northeast side of the city which the enemy has been using as a command post and supply area.

"During the day one patrol entered the city.

"It is believed there are now five enemy battalions in Aachen and that from 5000 to 25,000 civilians remained in their homes.

"Almost 300 prisoners surrendered yesterday just before and after the expiration of the time of the ultimatum which demanded surrender of the city. Most of them carried the leaflets dropped by the Allies, bearing the text of the ultimatum.

"But our artillery and mortar fire still are the deciding factors which make the German soldier at this stage of the campaign say 'kamerad.'" said Lt. Col. Robert Evans of Davenport, Ia. "The leaflets had a good effect, for the prisoners said they did not want to die for the Fuehrer at this late hour."

Favor Dances For Teen Agers

Friday night dances for teenage boys and girls are being conducted by the Catholic Women's Club of Norwood, aided by Norwood council, K. of C., in a youth guidance program which has been endorsed by the Mass. Youth Committee.

While president of the club, two years ago, Mrs. Edmund F. Murphy, realizing how youth craves dancing, saw the need for providing such social entertainment under proper supervision. The plan met with instant success. School boys and girls have registered in increasing numbers for free instruction in dancing and ballroom etiquette.

This year's committee is made up of Mrs. Murphy, chairman, Mrs. Everett MacLeod, Mrs. John Sanders, Mrs. Michael Keohane, and Mrs. Coleman Foley, president of the Catholic Women's Club.

A nominal fee is charged to pay the dancing instructor and pianist. The Knights of Columbus have donated use of their hall. Members of the Catholic Women's Club serve as matrons.

21-Gun Salute

WITH THE FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY, Oct. 12 (AP)—Sgt. Walter G. Burroughs of Louisville, Miss., had been too busy fighting to read his mail for several days—but when he did he learned that he has a son, born since he left home. "That boy is going to get a 21-gun salute," Burroughs said.

About that time a column of Germans came around the corner. The sergeant opened up with his machine gun, and the salute to his new son brought down 10 Nazis. The other fled.

Joe Rubin, Boston night club owner, charged with manslaughter in the shooting of Guy Fomicia, today prepared his plea of self-defense when his trial resumes in Suffolk Superior Court tomorrow.

Court sessions were suspended today in observance of Columbus Day.

Rubin's counsel, Daniel J. Gallagher, said his client would also claim the shooting outside the Warrenton st., South End, club was accidental.

The state rested yesterday with the testimony of two witnesses who testified Rubin started the fight which was climaxed by the fatal shooting. Spiros Lagoulis, roller skating entertainer, and Isidore Coleman, Esmond st. Dorchester, taxicab driver, testified they saw the fracas from its beginning.

New England's potato crop is short of earlier expectations and the apple crop shows a small decline, says the Federal Crop Reporting Service.

On the basis of conditions Oct. 1 the potato crop is expected to total 68,615,000 bushels compared with the 70,965,000 bushels predicted a month ago.

In spite of the September hurricane, the apple crop shows only 3 per cent decline from a month earlier. The Oct. 1 estimate is 6,453,000 bushels, 17 per cent larger than the 1943 production of 5,538,000 bushels.

'The Climax' Among Top Spine-Chilling Films

By PEGGY DOYLE

Universal has wrapped up its newest chiller-diller in mouth-watering technicolor, spangled it with co-stars Susanna Foster and Turhan Bey and spiced it with the goose-pimpling presence of Boris Karloff and Academy Award-winning Gale Sondergaard.

And if you think Keith Meador audiences are not having a wonderful, breath-bating time at "The Climax," it is only because you haven't caught this hooper-dooer scare fare.

Curt Siodmak and Lynn Stirling wrote the screen script from the Edward Locke play about a man who committed murder in a passion of thwarted love and got away with it only to find 10 years later that it's to do all over again. Producer-Director George Waggoner has given Universal's technicolor musical drama a generous production and suspense-building direction. These advantages, combined with excellent performances and a slick story, put "The Climax" right up there on top as spine-chilling entertainment.

Karloff, who absented himself from the screen for three years to chill the blood of thousands of theater-goers with his performance in "Arsene and Old Love," skips the grotesque make-up in this one. He was never more menacing than as the mad Dr. Hohner, opera house physician, whose hypnotic powers threaten the brilliant organic career of the golden-voiced Susanna Foster. And how the customers love to hate that man!

Susanna, in one of her most important roles since her youthful screen debut not so long ago, shows immeasurable improvement as an actress. Her singing voice, as always, is lovely to listen to, especially when she is singing "Now at Last," an aria from the opera, "The Magic Voice," based on themes of Schubert, Chopin and Edward Ward, and "Some Day I Know."

Universal's sensational dream-boy, Turhan Bey, gets gasps indicating varying degrees of admiration from the distaff side of the house during his tender wooing of Miss Foster.

Another star performance is Gale Sondergaard's first-rate characterization of Luise.

ALEXANDER KNOX'S brilliant characterization of our World War I President in "Wilson," Darryl Zanuck's masterful Technicolor cavalcade of the immediate historic past, is one of the great performances of this or any other year. "Wilson" today commences its third week on the RKO-Boston screen.

'Janie' Moves to Scollay, Olympia

"Janie," screen version of the Broadway comedy hit, brings Joyce Reynolds, Robert Hutton, Edward Arnold and Bob Benchley to the Washington St. Olympia and Scollay screens today for a week's run. On the same bill is "The Mask of Dimitrios," with Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre.

Dorchester JVA in All-Out Milkweed Drive

Another stellar Junior Victory Army organization has entered the JVA's all-out milkweed collection drive. It was learned yesterday. Picked crews of students from the Defense and Aviation Corps 84 at Oliver Wendell Holmes school are taking part in the milkweed harvest under the direction of Miss Esther Larson, JVA corps sponsor.

The Defense and Aviation group's milkweed collection is centering in Dorchester and near-by Mattapan, Miss Larson said. Ten of the most active JVA members have been selected to lead the work under the direction of Miss Larson and four other teachers.

The milkweed drive is only one of the many home front war activities being carried on by this patriotic organization of junior high school boys and girls. Their other drives, including salvage collection and the gathering up of funny books, magazines and detective stories for veterans' hospitals and service men's centers, still are going on, Miss Larson pointed out.

Currently at the fore of all JVA activities, the milkweed drive is a harvest of the precious, wild-growing pods, floss from which is urgently needed by our armed forces as lining for lifesaving belts and aviators' jackets.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Army headquarters, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enthusiasm, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped, in your letter.

Bill Corum to See Robinson Ring Bout

By JACK CONWAY

BILL CORUM, America's No. 1 sports columnist, is looking forward with more than usual interest to seeing Ray (Sugar) Robinson and Izzy Jannazzo battle in a ten-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tomorrow night. Corum saw the Cardinals come from behind to win the World Series in his native State of Missouri.

Corum considers Robinson the uncrowned welterweight champion of the world and he is anxious to see how the former Army sergeant does against the fast and skillful Jannazzo. The latter proved in his Boston bouts with Harry Anzalone and Ralph Zanello that he is one of the best boxers of his weight in the world.

As a young man from Missouri, Corum has always insisted upon being shown before he would go all out for a boxer. I can remember Bill picking Jack Sharkey to win the heavyweight championship of the world from Max Schmeling, and later proclaiming Joe Louis as a coming title holder.

Corum has had one of the most colorful careers of any sports columnists. In World War No. 1, Bill was the youngest member in the army. He was assigned to serve with the famous Yankee Division in France, and he came to know many of our New England war heroes. Corum's war columns about the Yankee Division and its courageous members are classics.

Great Sports Writer

THIS WRITER got to know Bill Corum during the Golden Twenties when Tex Rickard was staging million dollar boxing attractions. Corum liked boxing better than he did any other sport, and I am including boxing at which Bill has rating as a handicapper.

Corum's ability as a writer and his love for boxing helped to gain international fame for Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Mickey Walker and the other ring heroes of that thrilling era of American sports.

When Corum first started writing a sports column for the New York Journal, he had many rivals, but as the years rolled on Bill soon was in a class by himself.

There are several reasons for Corum's success as a sports writer. In addition to his brilliant ability as a writer, he has a thorough knowledge of his subject whether it is boxing, football, racing, hockey, baseball or some other sport. He also has rare enthusiasm for his work, much like Bert Ford and other Boston writers who have reached the heights as reporters.

Without this enthusiasm, Corum would never spend the long hours at sports events and with the people who make things tick. While the ball game may end at 5 p. m., you will find Bill talking over the day's plays with managers, coaches and players until the late hours of the evening.

The same is true of his association with other sports. He would rather be at sports events and with the various athletic leaders than anywhere else.

Gives Real Broadcast

BILL CORUM will give the color and his ideas of what is happening in the Robinson-Jannazzo bout in a Gillette Safety Razor Co. broadcast over 180 stations tomorrow night. The capable Don Dunphy will give the blow-by-blow description of the bout. Between rounds, Corum will take over the "mike" and he will give a graphic word picture of the Garden battle.

There was a period when this writer did not give any consideration to radio broadcasts of boxing bouts. Most of the broadcasts were very poor. It took Bill Corum and Don Dunphy to eliminate the hokum from boxing broadcasts and to give the real story of what was happening in the world.

After his Friday night broadcast, Bill may decide to remain in Boston over the week-end so that he can place a few hob on some of the horses running at Rockingham Park. Pete Reilly, manager of Marcel Cerdan and former pilot of Max Schmeling, Andre Routis and Jack Delaney, may have a few last minute specials for Bill.

Rindge Upsets Cantabs

Rindge Tech hung up its first victory in 14 starts this morning as it defeated the highly favored Cambridge Latin eleven, 6 to 0, before 4000 fans at Russell Field, Cambridge. The upset occurred in the second period when left halfback Jimmy Kennedy broke loose around right end and ran 15 yards for the lone score of the game and stopped the losing streak of Rindge. The point-after attempt by Tony Arena failed by inches.

Latin took to the air in the final chapter, when Jimmy Vigneron twirled a 30-yard pass to Lyons on the 25. Four consecutive attempts to pass lost the ball. An average of 55 yards on each kick was made by Tony Frasca of Rindge, whose boots helped keep Coach Metivier's boys from scoring.

Irish Head for Hub

By HUCK FINNEGAN

There will be a Sullivan and a Kelly and an O'Connor on Notre Dame's starting lineup against Dartmouth Saturday, so there will be no occasion for the subway alumni to revive that old parody on Notre Dame's victory march:

"Shame, shame on you Notre Dame, the Greco and the Polacks are stealing your fame. Why send Melnikovich through the line? Why use Schwartz and not O'Brien? Why keep the Kellys on the bench, and give the ball to the Wops and the Frengs? The fans are asking what became of the Irish of Notre Dame?"

Sullivan, Kelly and O'Connor are the answer to that one. But the Irish by no means dominate the "Fighting Irish" lineup. For example, at left end will be Achilles Maggioli (and don't try tackling him by the heel); at left will be John Mastrangelo, at right will be Fred Rovia, at right Boley Danciewicz, at left Elmer Angsman. Other starters will be John Ray, at Tom Guthrie, at John Adams.

The influx from South Bend, Ind., started this morning with the arrival at Hotel Kenmore of Walter Kennedy, public relations advance agent. Civilian members (25) of the squad check in tomorrow with Head Coach Ed McKeever and will work out at Fenway Park at 3:30. The V-12 group (12) will come in Saturday with Adam Walsh, captain and center of the 1924 "Four Horsemen" team. Dartmouth's squad will check in tomorrow at the Parker House, will drill at 4:45 at Fenway Park under Earl Brown. Their starting lineup is expected to be: Mörter (Hammond) Jr., Washburn Jr., Fusilli Jr., Grant Jr., Youngling (McKinnon) Jr., Harvey Jr., Peck Jr., Lewis Jr., Bennett Jr., Fritts Jr., Clayton (Bonk) Jr.

More than 39,000 tickets have been sold for the Notre Dame-Dartmouth game, and the attendance will exceed the 40,000 mark. . . . Dartmouth announces definitely that Ed Gengerich will not play Saturday. . . . Pat Filley, discharged from the Army, hasn't yet been able to crash ND's starting lineup, even though he is team captain. . . . It was 31 years ago that Coach Dorais and Knute Rockne put Notre Dame in the football headlines with a passing attack that defeated Army on West Point's Plains. . . . It's just 20 years ago that the "Four Horsemen" were riding herd over all competition, winding up undefeated and in the Rose Bowl. . . . Stuhldreher, Crowley and Layden are still in the headlines. That's wearing well.

Dave Smukler Lost To Yanks

Dave Smukler will not be in the Yanks' backfield when the Boston pros tangle with Washington's Redskins at Fenway Park, Sunday. Indeed, the former All-America fullback from Temple may have played his last game for Herb Kopf. He has been suspended indefinitely, and the aroma attached to the suspension would indicate that Smukler will soon be on his way to other parts.

In truth, he has been only a "hollow shell" of the once great back in his Temple days. Three years of Army service put him so far off the pro pace that he was unable to catch up. And because the Boston club didn't think he was giving 100 per cent he was suspended summarily.

George Cato, classier at fullback than at qb, will start at fullback Sunday with Milt Crain his replacement. (Smukler was suspended on defense against the Giants last Sunday.) Scotty Gustafson will be at quarter, Bob Davis at left half and Ted Williams at right half. The line will be Ransport, end; Crowley, ends; Franco and McGee, tackles; Lio and Walker, guards; and Magee (over Dubinski) at center.

The Yanks expect their stiffest test on pass defense Sunday. They will be facing Frank Filcho, Sammy Baugh's successor, who looked even better than Baugh in his headline-passing role against Philly.

Purple Speeds Up For Villanova

WORCESTER, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Holy Cross football squad went through one of its hardest workouts of the season yesterday in preparation for its game with undefeated Villanova here Sunday.

After a brief scrimmage in which coaches stressed better protection for kickers and passers, the Crusaders rehearsed their entire attack in a dummy drill.

Ed Noonan, regular guard, pulled a leg muscle in the scrimmage and it is feared he may be lost for Sunday's game. Jack Fox replaced him on the first team.

Armstrong Pays Tribute to Sugar

No finer tribute has ever been rendered a fighter than that paid to Sugar Ray Robinson, Harlem's uncrowned welterweight champion, by the master of them all, Henry Armstrong, once triple champion of the world. Robinson slated to face Izzie Bannazzo tomorrow night at the Boston Garden in the feature of the Goodwin A. C. fight show, has been tabbed by Armstrong, himself, as the greatest of all time.

Less than a year ago, Armstrong's first comeback attempt was halted by Robinson in the Madison Square Garden.

After the fight, Armstrong declared, "I would never have beaten Robinson in the best day I ever had. He had the style to beat me and he knew how to take advantage of me. He is the greatest fighter I have ever seen or faced. Make no mistake about that."

The Lost Weekend

The doctor pointed out patients. "Now that one..."

THE doctor came into the ward again. He was accompanied by an older man in a business suit. The doctor pointed out patients, not troubling to lower his voice. "Just that one over there..." The alarmed patients began to respond in fearful apprehension.

They stood between Don's bed and that of the gaunt man. "Now this fellow came in last night. He says he had only one glass of beer." As the gaunt man awoke to the fact that he was under study, the invisible motor speeded up. Sweat began to stand out above the eager eyes, eager to please. "How many did you have?" the doctor said.

"One, Doctor. Just one bottle of beer." The doctor asked his name. "John Haspeth."

"How do you spell it?"

"Haspeth, Doctor. John Haspeth." The front of the gown was already dark with sweat. What day was it? "Wednesday, Doctor." What month? He raised his hand to his mouth but it kept hitting his chin. He gasped, "January." Then, "Doctor, won't you give me something?"

"Not now. You can have all you want of those things in the hall. Go help yourself."

The doctor told the other man, "He wants a sedative but we don't give them in the daytime. He can have salt tablets. Put them to sleep now and they'll be raising hell all night. Delirium is a disease of the night."

As the two men moved down the ward, the gaunt man began gradually to subside in his pool of sweat. Delirium is a disease of the night, God what an expression.

were four nickels in the pockets—that was all. "Where's my hat?"

"Are you sure you had a hat?" Don said, yes. "They didn't give me a hat with your clothes, but I'll go see again." Don watched him go. Thank God he'd be out of here in a minute. He couldn't identify himself with the place. It isn't me, it isn't happening to me.

A young woman came in to call on a patient ready to go home. He sat on a bed waiting for his clothes. She sat in a chair. They were talking. Don saw the young man quicken with enthusiasm. He knew what he was saying—the plans that were being made, he'd get a job, they'd go to the country, this could never happen again, he'd never touch the stuff, she could watch and see.

The girl nodded, like Helen. (Continued tomorrow)

Medford Game Draws 12,000

By MIKE GILLOOLY

GILLIS STADIUM, Medford, Oct. 12—Another record crowd, nearing 12,000 before the teams even romped on the field, overflowed the stands here this afternoon expecting a crackerjack Somerville eleven to break into the victory column against Medford, for the first time in 30 years.

Both clubs had chalked up two victories against single defeats as they took the field in this annual Columbus Day classic.

FIRST PERIOD

Capitalizing on a fumble in the first two minutes of play, Somerville clicked with its T for a touchdown. A George Hughes pass from the Medford 40 to Reddie McDonough set Somerville upon the 6. Fran Rooney swept end for the score on the first play, but then missed the conversion when he tried to drop-kick.

Score: Somerville 6, Medford 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Starting on its own 45-yard line, Somerville marched to an early touchdown, in spite of being set back three times by penalties. Two plays after a nullified score Rooney took a pass from Hughes on the Medford 40 and danced to the touchdown. The attempted conversion failed.

Score: Somerville 12, Medford 0.

Draft Board Okays Baugh Week-End Play

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Washington Redskins may have triple-threat Quarterback Sammy Baugh for home games after all.

Baugh, who recently was told he'd have to remain on his Texas ranch or lose his 2-C draft deferment, told the Washington Star he had an okay from Caleb R. Simmons, chairman of his Sweetwater, Tex., draft board, to play football on week-ends if he wanted to.

Eagles Play Night Tilt With CCNY

Boston College will play the first night college football game in six years in Boston tomorrow night at Braves Field when it meets City College of New York in its second game of the season.

The Eagles played the last college game under the mazzins in 1938 when, under Gil Dobie, they met Northeastern at Fenway Park.

Ed Cronin, 17-year-old freshman quarterback, suffered a slight injury in practice at Alumni Field but he will be back in shape in time for the clash with the Gothamites.

The rest of the starting backfield is in top condition and Joe Elliot, Jim Casey and Tom Carney will be rarin' to go. All three were impressive in the final period at the Stadium on Saturday against Harvard.

Coach Moody Sarma unveiled several capable substitutes against the Crimson Bill "Shanty" Hogan, former pivot man at Public Latin, did a great job at co-Captain George Donelan's center position and will see quite a lot of service against C. C. N. Y.

Bill Boardman, 6-foot fullback, weighing 175 pounds, broke away several times on end runs last Saturday and will press Casey hard for the starting post against the New Yorkers. Other backfield subs who turned in good performances and are sure to see more service are Tom Seymour of Ogdensburg, N. Y., John Rabbette and Ed "Lefty" Walsh at the half-back slots.

Morning Glories—Part of record turnout of more than 30,000 fans at Rockingham Park today is shown on left. At right, aptly named, Four G's, thunders to victory in the second event on the morning card of Rock's twin bill, to complete a $96.20 daily double. Immense throng shattered mutual marks. Day's net proceeds go to charity, and it was certain that huge sum would be raised.

By JACK CONWAY

SALEM, N. H., Oct. 12—Lou Smith of Rockingham Park hit the jackpot once again today as his double-header for the War Fund caught fire and started a bonfire that could be seen for many miles. This is a figurative way of saying that all records both for attendance and mutual handle were being erased from the board of time at the Old Rock today, as a crowd estimated at more than 80,000 tossed the amazing total of $514,154 through the mutual machines on the six-race card this morning.

They started arriving before eight o'clock. They numbered more than 10,000 at 10 o'clock. They bought out the last of 12,000 programs that had been printed, a half hour later.

They totalled 15,000 paid admissions shortly before 11, according to announcement from head tictoman Mike Green. And they kept converging on the little plant, lunch boxes and camp stools in hand, until by noon the track was taxed to its ultimate capacity.

The morning mutual handle far surpassed the record of $796,033 set on Armistice Day last year, when the total for the morning and afternoon card was $1,300,000, and it was a leadpipe cinch that Lou Smith, who had been striving for a goal of $1,000,000, would reach and pass that mark if the mutual department could handle it.

The racing was equal to the cause and equal to the day, with the riders, bearing down in front of the great crowd and thrilling them with their nip-and-tuck finishes. The Lloyd Gentry-trained Quality Jane, ridden by Bobby Summers, and Mrs. McDermott's Four G's with Al Danvers, up combined to return $96.20 in the morning daily double.

Summers, one of Canada's greatest race-riders, subsequently made it a double for the morning card when he chauffeured B. B. Berger's Neotrist to victory in the fifth race.

For the first time in the three-year history of this unique event the handle for a morning race zoomed above $100,000 when $105,670 was wagered on the fifth race.
